Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Syllabus for Economics I Interpolated With Expository, Critical, and Interpretative Matter 1. The student is held strictly responsible for: (1) the text book; (2) all additional and critical matter in this Syllabus; (3) for the lectures and discussions given by the instructor; (4) and for a minimum of 50 pp. a week (beginning with the second week of the semester) of collateral reading, to be selected from the citations at the ends of the text book chapters, from others noted in the Syllabus, or from still others recommended orally by the instructor or approved by him. 2. It is suggested that the student let his collateral reading be upon the special topics that interest him most, upon those that give him special difficulty, and upon the points specially emphasized by the instructor in class or in the Syllabus. 3. Reading Reports: Beginning with the second week of the semester (omitting Thanksgiving week of the first semester) the student will hand in at the beginning of the last class hour of each week, a written...
