BEYOND THE SAGA OF ROCKET SCIENCE: THE DAWN OF THE SPACE AGEDOWNLOAD

Hardcover. Condition: New. 344 pages. Dimensions: 11.0in. x 8.5in. x 1.4in. The Dawn of the Space Age describes the painstaking historical development of rockets from their humble Chinese beginnings to the modern era. It provides an amply-illustrated, overarching perspective to a broad, non-technical audience of the entire panorama surrounding the development of rockets, missiles, and space vehicles that paved the way for the Apollo Program that landed 12 men on the Moon. This book blends fact-based dialogue among real, key characters with enthralling vignettes and vivid on-scene descriptions of the successes, the traumas, the failures and disasters, and triumphs encountered during the roller coaster ride of rocket development during Cold War Space Race between the United States and the Soviet Union. Audacious engineers and scientists, principally in Germany (Wernher von Braun), the Soviet Union (Sergei Korolyov and Valentin Glushko), and the United States (Robert Goddard, the Wright brothers, and Theodore von Karmn) had to blaze the trail through a wilderness of aerodynamics, propulsion science, and electronics to develop reliable rockets and missiles. The German V2, Soviet Soyuz, and American Corporal rockets paved the way for the design, fabrication, and operation of more refined, sophisticated second and third-generation missile systems that followed. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Hardcover.
