Oh, many a bark, with perfect winds to waft her, Flits on and on to strangest destinies, And there is heard for aye the wave's low laughter, And music dying on each dying breeze. And when there comes, with far-off mellow singing, To any quiet bay a little ship, Dryads appear, a beckoned welcome bringing, As down the beach in sinuous line they trip, With mist-like robes about them loosely clinging, And glossy locks that o'er sleek shoulders slip. Art not a-weary of his sordid scheming, And of a world whose constant cars is gain? Lo! merchant sails on all our seas are gleaming, About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
