Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Early Gleanings and Random Recollections of the Town of Corinth, Main, From 1792 to 1883 In the early ages of mankind, the products of the earth were spontaneous; man had little to do. but eat, drink, and be happy. If our associations are reliable, the life of our race began in a climate producing all that was needful for animal sustenance without mans care. Yet, in that position, man never rose, - he lived in a barbarous state, browsing in the primitive pastures of animal life. Much like the animal he lived and slept; and sleeping, sometimes dreaming; but he awaketh, and his soul is empty; he is faint, and his soul hath appetite. Then began the original purposes of mans nature; then commenced the stir of human faculties. The breadth of his nature began to work; he feels the stir of impassioned endeavor; - he begins to think - to philosophize - he sees grand fields of opportunity, and hears the command, till those acres, and soon perceives that by applying his own intelligence Lo his work, he improves himself. Thus the earth became the educator of her children. This wonderful earth was made for the accommodation of our race, not only for mans outward growth, exhibition, exposure, out-of-door contact, but the interior life, looking eternitywise. Every child born into the world is fed spontaneously at first. But this is not to be through life; growing children soon arrive at manhood, and are commanded to toil and earn a living. The ages move on, and a grand progressive work comes upon the stage of life. In our worlds schools there are no vacations, her...
