STAND UP TO ELDER FINANCIAL ABU$E (PAPERBACK)

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Despicable financial acts committed against the elderly have been, and continue to be, a growing problem. We are well past the time that says, Enough is enough. It s time to STAND UP TO ELDER FINANCIAL ABU$E. Have you ever succumbed to a fraudster s deception, know someone who has, or want to avoid being a victim of their psychological manipulations? If so, this is the book for you. In his poem, Beautiful Old Age, D.H. Lawrence wrote, It ought to be lovely to be old. However, lovely is not how many aged men and women feel after being swindled. While those 65 and older comprise about an eighth of the U.S. population, they represent about a third of scam victims, according to the American Association of Retired Persons. Not one day goes by without a news story about a despicable financial act committed against someone who is elderly. The abuser not only takes the victim s money, but the victim s trust in society that they ve built up over the years; their independence in taking care of themselves, including their financial needs; and their pride in making sound judgments. After the crime, these casualties are left emotionally, physically, and financially drained. More than any other age group, those 65 or older are falling victim to frauds because they are often easily accessible and socially isolated as they reach their retirement years, spending more time at home. Also, they experience declining physical and mental well-being as they grow older, causing the fraudster to take advantage of their decreased cognitive abilities. Finally, and most importantly, significant assets are controlled by retirees, who have accumulated them over a lifetime of hard work....
