Excerpt from Shakespeare s Tragedy of King Richard II: Edited, With Notes and an Introduction The two dukes of Lancaster and York, to deliver the king s mind of suspicion, made answer, that they were not ignorant, how their brother of Gloucester, as a man sometime rash in words, would speak oftentimes more than he could or would bring to cfect, and the same proceeded of a faithful heart, which he bare towards the king; for that it grieved him to understand, that the confines of the English dominions should in any wise be diminished: therefore his grace ought not to regard his words, sith [since] he should take no hurt thereby. These persuasions quieted the king for a time, till he was ih formed of the practise which the duke of Gloucester had con trived (as the fame went amongst diverse persons) to imprison the king. For then the duke of Lancaster and York, first re proving the duke of Gloucester for his too liberal talking, and, perceiving that he set nothing by their words, were in doubt lest, if they should...
