Excerpt from Municipal Landing Fields and Air Ports: With Chapters by the Chief of the Army Air Service, the Director of Naval Aviation, and Their Officers in Charge of Landing Field Operations Transportation is an ever-present problem of civilization, and every improvement in the means of transportation has brought about a marked advance in the intelligence and comfort of civilized people. Looking at the present day developments, it is hard to believe that the first steamship crossed the Atlantic only about one hundred years ago, or that the first railroad crossed this continent scarcely fifty years ago, or that the first American automobile was made in 1893.
