

Standing on the Corner: Anecdotes and Tales from the Old Neighborhood, Lawrence - My Hometown (Paperback)

By Richard Edward Noble

Createspace, United States, 2013. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Standing on the Corner We were always standing on some corner in the old neighborhood. I don't remember the actual date that we moved the gang to the Howard Playstead and settled on the corner of Lawrence Street and Birchwood Road but we were still little guys not even teenagers. We called that corner pictured on the cover of this volume home right up until we all were graduating from teenager hood. On some evenings during the summer months we could gather fifteen or twenty guys up there. I thought the song Standing on the Corner by the Four Lads was really written by a guy from my hometown of Lawrence, MA. I was still parking my old 1946 DeSoto Fluid Drive up on the Birchwood Road hill when I was attending Northern Essex Community College in my early twenties. The starter had gone out and parts were few and money was tight. We had to get it rolling in order to jump start it every morning. The old corner and up the hill a bit on Birchwood Road was perfect. So...
