Mr. Bruce said he could spare a few minutes to show them the Exchange, so they went across, too, and he explained to them that this was the place where all the merchants of London meet to settle their affairs, and to make many of their bargains. They admired the size of the building; but Owen was horrified to see how black and miserable the statue of the Queen looked which stood in the middle, and he could hardly believe that it was made of beautiful white marble. Just as they came out again, Owen saw a ragged little boy running down the steps, and at the same moment, the gentleman they had seen at the Bank, put his hand behind him, and exclaimed-- I have just had my pocket picked! Yes, and there goes the young rascal, replied the other, to whom he was talking. The cry of pick-pocket was raised directly, and several people began to run after the little thief, who took to his heels as soon as he heard the cry behind him. Harry and Owen joined in the excitement directly, and dragged Mr. Bruce off in the same direction; but the boy had got the start of his pursuers, and the gentleman soon turned back again, saying, it was only his handkerchief that was gone, and it was too much trouble to go further, at which speech the two...
