JOHN MARR AND OTHER SAILORS, WITH SOME SEA-PIECES

By Melville, Herman; Douglas Robillard (Editor)

Kent State University Press, Kent, Ohio, U.S.A., 2006. Hard Cover. Book Condition: New. First Printing. "A facsimile edition of Melville's rare volume including the author's proofreading corrections. Late in his life, Herman Melville published a volume of poetry called John Marr and Other Sailors. He produced the collection at his expense, and therefore only about 25 copies were printed. Existing copies can be found in libraries, but scholars have, for the most part, not seen them. John Marr and Other Sailors is a complete facsimile reprint of the original edition as Melville published it that also offers additional materials that allow readers to study the book as Melville conceived it. Robillard provides excerpts from the author's manuscript, printer's copy with corrections, the galley proofs with Melville's instructions about the structure of the book, and the page proofs, thereby offering a complete record of one of his books from manuscript to print. Many scholars have been dismissive of Melville's poetry and his writing during the last years of his life. But Melville was a hard-working, professional writer during his later years, writing new poems and changing and correcting older poems. As evident in this edition, he was distilling the hard-earned knowledge..."

Reviews

An incredibly amazing ebook with perfect and lucid answers. It is written in basic terms and never difficult to understand. It's been written in an exceptionally basic way and it is only right after I finished reading this ebook in which it in fact modified me, affected the way I really believe.
