Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .IN THE KITCHEN: Thoughts on Love, Sex, and Aging by Mary Miller is a comedy that revolves around the lives of a mother and her three daughters who suddenly find themselves forced to navigate the pitfalls of old age when the girls discover their mother has left the gas stove burning all night. Mixing real life events with childhood memories puts the women at odds with one another and sends them on a collision course that is often as hysterical as it is heartbreaking. AWARDS NOTICES First place winner of the New England Theatre Conference (NETC) John Gassner Memorial Playwriting Award for best play of 2016. In the Kitchen was by far the best of this year's finalists. David Frieze, Committee Chairman. ABOUT THE PLAY When Kate's mother leaves the gas stove burning all night, it sets in motion a chain of events and family confrontations over the nature of aging and what to do if you're lucky enough to get old. IN THE KITCHEN will touch anyone who has ever wrestled with an aging parent, come to grips with teenage children, been confused as to what to wear as an adult, and have both lost and found: love, work, money, and happiness all while sitting at the kitchen table trying to keep the family together. Why the kitchen? Because that's where life unfolds . in the kitchen! CHARACTERS: The ages of the main characters can vary, as long as their ages are suitable for a mother who is considering (or should be considering) life in a retirement community. MOTHER (60+) - The mother of three daughters, she is a vivacious, energetic woman who suddenly finds herself...
