Small Beer Press, United States, 2001. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. * Philip K. Dick Award finalist * Locus Recommended Reading Here are 33 weird, wonderful stories concerning men, women, teleportation, wind-up cats, and brown paper bags. By turns whimsical and unsettling-frequently managing to be both-these short fictions describe family relationships, bad breakups, and travel to outer space. Vukceovich's loopy, fun-house mirror take on everyday life belongs to the same absurdist school of work as that of George Saunders, David Sedaris, Ken Kalfus, and Victor Pelevin, although there is no one quite like him. Try one of these stories, it won't take you long, but it will turn your head inside out. What other writer could make you start laughing halfway down the first page of a story about a man putting on a sweater? Thurber maybe, a long time ago. Buy this book. -Damon Knight These stories cannot be compared to anyone else's. There is no one in the same class as Ray Vukceovich. The stories are uniquely, splendidly, brilliantly original, a surprise in each and every one, and brimming with wit and laugh-out-loud humor. A stunning collection. -Kate Wilhelm The absurd and the profound are seamlessly joined through fine writing. Meet Me in the Moon Room is a first-rate collection. -Jeffrey Ford The 33 brief stories in Meet Me in the Moon Room defy categorization genre. A few toy with the conventions of science fiction; others branch off from trails blazed by Donald Barthelme. Moon Room will delight those who appreciated the risks Don DeLillo took in Ratner's Star. -Hartford Courant Eccentric short stories, which frequently give everyday life a loopy twist. -Book Magazine Ray Vukceovich is a master of the last line. Almost every one of his stories has...
