Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from University of the United States: March 10, 1896 The Senate having under consideration the bill (S. 1708) to establish a national university - Mr. Hunton said: Mr President: I gave notice that to-day immediately after the routine business of the morning hour I would call up the bill (S. 1708) to establish a national university. I desire now to call up the bill. The President pro tempore. Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and the bill is before the Senate as in Committee of the Whole. Does the Senator from Virginia desire to have the bill read at length? Mr. Hunton. I do not desire to have the bill read at length unless some Senator calls for its reading. Mr. Cullom. The bill ought to be read before we pass it. Mr. Hunton. Very well; then let the bill be read. Mr. CULLOM. If the Senator from Virginia simply desires to address the Senate upon the bill called up, I do not ask for its reading. I supposed the Senator had called up the bill to put it on its passage. Mr. Hunton. That is my desire. The President pro tempore. The bill will be read at length. The Secretary read the bill. Mr. Hale. Mr. President, I do not think any member of the Senate supposed, when the request was made for unanimous consent to take up this most important bill, that it was to be attempted to push it through this morning. I supposed that the Senator expected to make a speech on the subject, and so made no objection. It is very evident, however, that this measure can not pass in...
