AUTHORHOUSE, United States, 2009. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Does prayer in faith have the power to move mountains? God is in control of everything, whether we believe in Him or not. Praying to our Creator to be loved, changed, helped and used, is not usually our first effort at problem solving. We seek many other avenues from many other sources before we approach God in prayer. However, in these trying times, we are all being forced to cry out to God and beg for mercy, for one reason or another. Often, the most desperate prayer comes from one who has simply reached the end of the rope after trying everything else. We must seek first the One who alone has the power to change things and help us move mountains. As we accept that we do not control the beginning or ending of our lives, we must realize we really have no control at all. I discovered that to pray without ceasing means just that. Fall on your knees in humble submission to God every day if possible, or whisper softly to the Father, in the name of Jesus, every moment that you live. He is listening and He cares. He ll give you the love you need at that moment. He ll change your circumstances supernaturally. He ll help you through your hour of need. He ll use you to glorify Himself to others. I hope this volume helps those searching for words to say in prayer. God created you, and He knows you well. When you believe with all your heart in exactly who He is, you realize He s right there with you, all the time, just waiting for you to ask for assistance.
