By Benjamin S Parker

Forgotten Books, 2018. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Rhymes of Our Neighborhood Little Boy Blue, across the fields I wind my horn to measures old, Or seek the rainbow s ravelled end To gather fancy s fading gold. I know where lie the hidden roots Of unborn blossoms, and I dream Dissolving dreams of deathless things And follow, follow still the gleam, The light whereof my toils are vain To fix in any woof of song; Yet who shall bid me hold my peace ten crowding visions round me throng? Believe me, friends, how e er it seem, The strife for art is worth its cost, And though, unsatisfied, we fall And are forgot, we are not lost; And all that has appealed to us, To woo us upward, is divine; The gleam shall grow, the buds shall blow And still their joy be your s and mine. The little things of home and love, The weeds that blossom by the path, The bluebirds singing on the rails Such joys as country childhood hath: To day let me be taught of these, Nor seek to fly on wanton wing Too...
