SIMON SCHUSTER, United States, 2010. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 201 x 124 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Did you know that. - shark embryos can attack?- caterpillars can tap dance?- koalas have fingerprints almost identical to those of humans? And, who would have guessed that. - chimpanzees talk about food?- male animals from hot climates make bad fathers?- owls employ snakes as babysitters?- rats can learn the differences between languages?- some parasites castrate their victims?- dogs can see moving objects up to 985 yards away?- ants won't cross a chalk line?- a sloth moves so slowly that fungus grows on its feet? Astonishing new facts about animals are discovered every day. Here, gathered together in one book, are hundreds of the most fascinating, often funny, and, occasionally, just plain bizarre snippets known about animals freshly gleaned from the most up-to-date scientific observations and experiments. With chapters on every aspect of animal life -- from how they communicate with one another to their highly unusual parenting practices to their lively and varied sex lives -- Augustus Brown has compiled a charming, educational, and supremely entertaining book that will satisfy even the most obsessive animal lover. So, dig in...

Reviews

An incredibly amazing ebook with perfect and lucid answers. It is written in basic terms and never difficult to understand. It's been written in an exceptionally basic way and it is only right after I finished reading this ebook in which it in fact modified me, affected the way I really believe.

Extremely helpful for all classes of individuals. Better than never, though I am quite late in starting to read this one. I realized this publication from my mom and dad suggested this ebook to discover.
