Mortal Engines: The Science of Performance and the Dehumanization of Sport (Paperback)

By M John Hoberman

The Blackburn Press, United States, 2001. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .In this reprint of a classic originally published in 1992, John Hoberman dissects the modern sports establishments of Europe and America and shows how a community of mutually dependent interest groups combine to promote continued scientific experiments despite futile efforts by Olympic authorities to enforce their sanctions on those who violate the ban on illicit drugs. Hoberman also reflects on the future of sport as we enter a new era of unprecedented developments in genetic engineering and hormonal manipulation, with important implications for the science of human performance. Great sport begins where good health ends. Bertolt Brecht. John Hoberman has written another magisterial study of sport. [a] brilliantly crafted narrative. . . I heartily recommend Hoberman s book to serious students and enthusiasts of sport alike. It is a highly readable book that treats some of the most salient and delicate problems that have plagued high-performance sport since its inception. It is, to put it quite simply, one of the most intelligent and perceptive analyses of elite sport that I have had the pleasure of reading. -- William J. Morgan, Journal...
