Excerpt from Breaking Prairie Sod: The Story of a Pioneer Preacher in the Eighties, With a Discussion on the Burning Question of to-Day, Shall the Alien Go? Mr. Bridgman gave both Of his sons to the war, and the youngest is sleeping his last sleep in Flanders Fields. He knows the price that fathers and mothers have paid for the preservation Of our land, and he feels that the blood of our best sons has sanctified its soil. It should be held as a sacred heritage. We must keep the faith with those who sleep. The things for which they died must be the things for which we live. These are the truths we must teach our children, and discuss with one another, until our hearts burn within us. And we must write it over the portals Of this great country, in letters that the strangers within - our gates cannot fail to read as they come to take their place among us.
