Iodine Nutriture of School age Children(6-12yrs) in Ibadan,Nigeria
A comparative study in 2 Local Government Areas

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | A comparative study in 2 Local Government Areas | School age children, like most populations in low income countries, suffer from micro nutrient deficiencies. Few representative data are available on the levels of malnutrition in school age children, however, the available data on school age children follow the regional pattern of more extensive representative data from surveys of preschool children. This work therefore aimed at knowing the iodine nutriture of the school...
