AUTHORHOUSE, United States, 2005. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Saturday, 8:20 am, February 1970. I picked up the old ringing rotary phone and after the customary Hello a man s gruff voice said: This is Louis. Louis? I asked. Louis Jalbert, came the imperious reply. I hear that you re thinking of running for the House. I can tell you right now that you re not going to win. Now, if you re interested in politics, you should start by joining the County Democratic Women s Club. They re getting ready for a card party as a fund-raiser. You can help them set up the tables. That s where you start. How can you say this.you don t even know me nor what I am capable of in serving in the Legislature. My dear, I know everything about you, including the size of your underwear. So began Georgette Berube s foray into politics. At a time when few women served in statewide and national offices, women like Berube challenged local and state Party Machines. In her memoirs and speeches, Georgette Berube provides an insider s view of Maine politics. Serving in both the Maine House and Senate from 1970 to 2000, Georgette Berube has more state legislative service than another other woman in Maine s history. In 1982, she was a candidate for Governor of Maine. For many years she also hosted a weekly French radio program in central Maine.
