

Black and Brown Waves: The Cultural Politics of Young Women of Color and Feminism (Hardback)

By Regina Andrea Bernard

Sense Publishers, United States, 2009. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Dr. Bernard was born and raised in NYC s Hell s Kitchen, and emotionally still resides there. She was a graduating pioneer of the African American Studies Master s Degree Program at Columbia University, where she then worked as the Assistant Editor of the Malcolm X Multimedia Project. She then completed her M.Phil and PhD in Urban Education at the Graduate Center in New York. Currently an Assistant Professor at Baruch College in New York City, she teaches undergraduate courses in Black and Latino/a studies. She has also published essays in What You Don t Know About Schools and in the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Youth Culture. Outside of her academic schema, Dr. Bernard runs a community group of women of all ages, where they discuss social dilemmas, as they work together to keep NYC the great place that it is. This is her first book on young women of color and feminism.
