Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Which Is Best for the Farmers, Protection or Free Trade?: An Address Before the Agricultural Society of Lancaster County, Delivered at Lancaster City, Pa., February 7, 1887 Mr. President and Gentlemen: - It is always unfortunate when any question relating to political economy is introduced into politics, and doubly unfortunate when such a question as Protection or Free Trade is introduced. It is discussed often by men who know nothing about it, simply because it has been incorporated into the party platform, and opposed by men equally ignorant, because it has been condemned by the other party. Protection is either right or wrong; is a benefit or else an injury; and it should be examined and considered calmly and dispassionately as to whether it promotes or retards the prosperity and welfare of the country. The examination should be a practical one, and not from a theoretical standpoint. Many things are very beautiful in theory, but when applied practically, under new or different conditions, are perfect failures. You might as well prescribe the same bill of fare for all mankind as to attempt to apply the same theory in political economy to all nations. What may be good for England, with her redundant population and her peculiar climate and soil, may not be suited to the people of the United States, with our sparse population, our great abundance of land, and genial climate. Hence the theory that works in one country may not work in another. Therefore the statesman should look at it from a practical, rather than a theoretical, standpoint. Outside of Switzerland no civilized country in the world has ever adopted Free Trade. England...
