Andrew Jackson s Victory on the Eighth of January, 1815 To be in autumn, ripe with wisdom s fruit To plan the fight, and then the fight dispute. His eye shows Openness and seems to speak, But nothing s there that shows a woman s freak. His will chains every nerve - none durst betray The secret feeling he would hide from day But when he wills, his every look takes fire And ?ames to view the hidden soul s desire. The City, long foreboding in despair, Rise and salute him with reviving air. Glad, they submissive bow to his command, Secure beneath the shadow of his hand.
