New World Library. Paperback. Condition: New. 144 pages. Taoism is mostly known for its quiet, enigmatic wisdom, but the Tao sometimes also flows with the crashing, cleansing force of a rushing river, sweeping away all forms in its path. According to Taoist teacher William Martin, the time has come to pay attention to what the Tao is doing now. It is gathering its Yang, its active power, he writes in The Activists Tao te Ching, for a revolution that will change the world. There is no question that this revolutionary energy is beginning to move. We have been too long out of balance. Whether or not the human race will notice and align itself with this energy is uncertain. If we are able to do so, we will find ourselves experiencing a new freedom and justice. If we are not able to do so, we will be swept aside and the Tao will restore balance to the planet without us. There has never been a more important time in human history. The Activists Tao Te Ching will combine ancient revolutionary wisdom with a modern presentation that will speak forcefully to this crucial period. Transformation and revolution accompanied the teachings of Quietist Taoism in Lao-Tzus time as well. He wrote and taught sometime during the Warring States period of Chinas history in the fifth and fourth centuries BCE, when various powerful states and leaders were vying for consolidated power. Warfare was shifting from chariot battles between noblemen to mass armies of foot soldiers. The more affluent states were able to take advantage of the new technology of casting individual weapons for these foot soldiers. Warfare began to affect great masses of ordinary people for the first time. Confucian teachings of duty, honor, obedience, order, and sacrifice were firmly in place and...
