ETNZ Ltd. Paperback. Condition: New. 88 pages. Dimensions: 11.0in. x 8.5in. x 0.2in. Developing Thinking Players BaseballSoftball edition What is the best play for the fielding with a runner on three and one down Does this change if the fielding team is up by five runs in the bottom of the last innings as opposed to being ahead by one in the third With a left-handed batter should the fielding team shift, if so how far Where should the batting team be hitting Is a bunt a good idea What factors would alter this decision Baseball and softball both require a deep understanding of the game and how contextual factors impact on tactics to play well. When players have developed this deeper understanding it brings an extra dimension to their play. We all know of players who have a real feel for the game, who understand it in ways that lead to them making good decisions and making the great plays at crucial times. But how do they develop this understanding Are they born with a special level of interest that leads to them becoming students of the game or is this understanding developed through good coaching and game experience The Developing Thinking Players (DTP) approach is based on the strong belief that appropriate coachingteaching will lead to every player becoming a smarter player. It uses game based scenarios, played out in real game situations, to help players to develop their understanding of the game and to learn to make good decisions. DTP is based on the following six principles If players are to become good decision makers they need to practice making decisions in realistic contexts. For players to learn at a deeper level they must be practically involved in the coachinglearning process. The motivation to learn physical skills is...
