Lantern Books,US, United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 226 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. What about plants? Don't animals eat other animals? There are no perfect vegans, so why bother? If you're vegan, how many times have you been asked these, and other similarly challenging, questions from non-vegans? Using humor and reason, Sherry F. Colb takes these questions at face value and also delves deeply into the motivations behind them, coming up with answers that are not only intelligent but insightful about human nature. Through examples, case studies, and clear-eyed logic, she provides arguments for everything from why veganism is compatible with the world's major religions to why vegetarianism is not enough. In the end, she shows how it is possible for vegans and non-vegans to engage in a mutually beneficial conversation without descending into counterproductive name-calling, and to work together to create a more hospitable world for human animals and non-human animals alike. A rare fusion of passion and logic, idealism and pragmatism, style and substance, and in its measured confrontation of the most challenging questions vegans face a revolutionary guide for advocates seeking to engage the ethics of eating animals through authentic dialogue rather than bombastic rhetoric. Colb's literary touch is something to behold. She writes in a way that will appeal to non-vegans and vegans alike, building bridges across an all too turbulent divide. This is food writing at its best and food writing as it should be: honest, inclusive, inspirational, and, more than you might imagine, timely. James McWilliams, Professor of History, Texas State University, San Marcos, and author of Just Food and The Politics of the Pasture With compassion, humor, and eloquence, Sherry Colb provides a clear and engaging account of what motivates vegans to eat and...
