Excerpt from The Great Round World, Vol. 10: A History of Our Own Times for Young People and Busy Men and Women; April 6 to June 29, 1899 The Metropolitan Street Railway Company pro poses to spend from to in building and equipping an underground electrical system. On page 465 a map appears which shows the parts of Manhattan which the proposed system will serve. Transfers will be provided at various points, and express trains and locals will be run on separate tracks. The stations for through and local service are shown on pages 467 and 471. The Rapid Transit Commissioners are in favor of the proposition, with the exception that they are unwilling to grant a perpetual franchise, nor are they willing to concede to the Metropolitan Company the exclu sive right to all the tunnel facilities. They want to be in a position to sell the right of way for pipes, wires, etc., to other companies engaged in furnishing light, heat, power, cold air for storage and ventilation, etc. These privileges are far more valuable than that of allowing a tunnel railroad system to be Operated.
