Maggie s cheerful singing came from the kitchen; and Queen Caroline, being tried over the mantelpiece, looked down on a scene both pleasant /(and peaceful. Basset used to see, and comment on the fact, that the invalid walked back quite late, on uncommonly chilly spring evenings, to Myrtle Cottage, though it was still stated he was not well enough to visit or to receive patients. One day, it beheld him being taken by old Benet and Neck-or-Nothing into Dilchester. Neck-or-Nothing had quite threequarters of an hour s good sleep outside the office of Messrs. Rastrick and Dodd, solicitors, while his passengers were within. Soon after, Basset observed that the brass plates outside Myrtle Cottage and Dr. Benet s house were both missing. There was a brief, blank interval. Then they were replaced, each bearing the inscription--Drs. Benet And Spencer, Physicians...
