The courts and the executive branch face major decisions on clean air issues in 2006, with Congress more likely playing an oversight role. One focus is EPAs Jan. 17, 2006 proposal to strengthen air quality standards for fine particles, which are estimated to cause tens of thousands of premature deaths annually. Whether the proposal is supported by the available science and what impact its implementation would have are likely issues of concern. Other issues of continuing interest are EPAs 2005 decisions limiting interstate transport of air pollution and establishing capand- trade systems for emissions from coalfired power plants, and the agency's proposed changes to New Source Review. All of these issues face court challenges. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
