The Drawings of Albrecht Diirer. By Professor Hans Singer. (London: George Newnes.) is. bd. net.--In spite of the closeness with which Professor Hans Singer has studied the drawings of Albrecht Diirer, it can scarcely be claimed that he has succeeded in fully grasping the characteristics that render them unique. Moreover, in his efforts to be strictly faithful to his own convictions he commits himself to several assertions that will hardly pass unchallenged. However, the fine series of reproductions of typical drawings and studies that accompany this somewhat hypercritical essay speak for themselves, and will be the delight of all true appreciators of Diirer, who was indeed a master spirit, one of the greatest artists, perhaps the greatest designer, who ever lived, combining with originality of conception a complete control over the language of art, so that nearly everything from his hand, whether a mere outline drawing or a highly elaborated composition, eloquently expresses his meaning. Tintoretto. By Mrs. Arthur Bell. (London: Newnes Art Library.) 35. 6d. net.--We have noticed in these pages several preceding volumes of this excellent series, and the remarks which we made then, as to the extreme usefulness of the books and of their value to the student, we are glad to emphasise. It is impossible...
