Did not he, who ordaind the day, Ordain night too. And in the greater world display What in the lesser He would do All flesh is Clay, thou knowst; and but that God Doth use his rod, And by a fruitfull Change of frosts and showres Cherish and bind thy powrs, Thou wouldst to weeds and thistles quite disperse, And be more wild than is thy verse. Sickness is wholesome, Crosses are but curbs To check the mule, unruly man; They are heavens husbandry, the famous fan, Purging the floor which Chaff disturbs. Were all the year one constant Sun-shine, wee Should have no flowres; All would be drought and leanness; not a tree Would make us bowres. Beauty consists in colours; and thats best Which is not fixt, but flies and flowes. The settled Red is dull, and whites that rest Something of sickness...
