HERE was once a fine gentleman, all of whose moveables were a bootjack and a haircomb: but he had the finest false collars in the world; and it is about one of these collars that we are now to hear a story. It was so old, that it began to think of marriage; and it happened that it came to be washed in company with a garter. Nay! said the collar, I never did see anything so slender and so fine, so soft and so neat. May I not ask your name! That I shall not tell you! said the Where do you live V asked the collar. But the garter was so bashful, so modest, and thought it was a strange question to answer. You are certainly a girdle, said the collar; that is to say an inside girdle. I see well that you are both for use and ornament, my dear young lady. I will thank you not to speak to me, said the garter. I think I have not given the least occasion for it. Yes! when one is as handsome as you, said the collar, that is occasion enough. Don t come so near me, I beg of you! said the garter. You look so much like those men-folks. I am also a fine gentleman, said the collar. I have a boot-jack and a hair-comb. But that was not true, for it was his master...
