Excerpt from Letters From John Pintard to His Daughter, Eliza Noel Pintard Davidson, Vol. 2 of 4: 1816-1833; 1821-1827 It is many years, with the highest sense of gratitude to God for the mercy, since my having being sic restricted by indisposition to the house, as long since as when I informed you that I suffered with a smart attack of Fever for 3 days, I think in the spring of 1810. We have been smothered almost with a dense vapoing atmosphere on the return of milder weather and I have added one cold to another in succession, which by going to the Savings Bank on Sat evening it was increased to a violent catarrh. Sunday was another wet day, when prudence would have dictated my staying home, but it was Sacrament Sunday, and tho Mama and Sister could not go I thought it proper to attend. I remained home afterwards, but at night had a smart Fever, which with my cold so stupified me yest that I cd do little more than discharge the duties of my office, and as before remarked...

Reviews

This book is definitely worth acquiring. I have go through and so i am certain that i will likely to read through again again in the future. Its been printed in an exceptionally basic way in fact it is only after i finished reading this publication in which actually altered me, change the way in my opinion.
