

Darwin, Darwinism, and Uncertainty

By Charles M Woolf

One World Press, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 226 x 150 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Darwin s major contribution to science was establishing that natural selection is the mechanism for evolution. This concept is known as Darwinism. Following the publication of the Origin of Species in 1859, Darwin was denounced by many persons for his atheistic views. This castigation continues at the present time, and especially by fundamental Christians in the USA. To the contrary, Darwin was a theist when he wrote the Origin of Species, and even though he eventually evolved from being a firm believer in Christianity to becoming an agnostic, he was never an atheist in the sense of denying the existence of God. Furthermore, in 1879, three years before his death, he was quoted as saying that the theory of evolution is quite compatible with the belief in God, but you must remember that different persons have different definitions of what they mean by God. Darwin never gave an explanation, based on natural laws, for the first part of this statement. Darwin was adamant in his belief that natural selection is blind and non-directional in its actions....
