Essential Oils Deodorants: 25 Homemade Organic Deodorants That Won t Harm Your Health And Make You Feel Fresh All Day Long You may already have heard that commercial deodorants could be harmful to human health. The truth is the research is not yet conclusive; it is impossible to say for certain at this stage. However, until the research is conclusive it is possible to avoid using these commercial deodorants and create your own ones. Deodorant can be made quickly and easily at home and works as effectively as commercial deodorant. You will need to look at the huge variety of essential oils which is available to decide which is the most appropriate for you. They do not just have different aromas! Some of the oils also offer a range of health benefits which can make them invaluable. For the majority of people deodorant is an essential item. Whilst there are a few lucky people who do not seem to ever smell, the majority of humans sweat. The sweat attracts bacteria which feed on your sweat and it is these bacteria which create your body odor. Deodorants work to destroy the bacteria preventing the odor from being generated. However, you can also purchase antiperspirants which block your pores preventing the sweat from being emitted by your body. There are arguments regarding the health implications of this option. This book will give you all the information you need to create your own essential oil deodorant and take back control of your body! A brief summary of the need for deodorant and the history of it. A selection of methods which can be used to create a deodorant; whether you have sensitive skin or...
