Betimes Books, Ireland, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. 3rd Revised edition. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Now middle aged and in poor health, widower and grandfather Corey takes a solo trip home to Freeport, the Texan town he grew up in. But that trip turns out to represent much more than a poignant journey for old times sake. With memories of his childhood prompted by the familiar Texan landscape, Corey narrates the story of the 1950s summer that changed his life forever. Dismissed and beaten by a frustrated and violent father and effectively abandoned by an emotionally fragile and obsessively religious mother, the teenage Corey turns to his grandfather for comfort. Then his grandfather is diagnosed with terminal cancer. As events unfold, it becomes clear that this is just one of several life-changing events to happen to Corey that summer. His parents marriage falls apart, his mother s mental health declines and his father becomes increasingly angry, as a beloved father and grandfather slides towards death. Meanwhile, Corey s best friend lives locally in a violent and dysfunctional household, until the ultimate tragedy strikes and Destin is whisked away to live with relatives. Faced with the loss of his closest friend and imminent loss of his grandfather, Cory focuses his attention on a very special project, a present for his father. A present intended to win his father s love. But it doesn t. And Corey s good intentions vanish into violence. And that is when, strengthened by the wise counsel of his dying grandfather, Corey realizes that it is time to be his own person. The Death of Tarpons is a coming-of-age tale as the adult Corey recalls his past and sees with new clarity the issues surrounding love, parenthood, family and death which he...
