Bridgehampton Publishing Limited. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 308 pages. Dimensions: 9.8in. x 7.8in. x 0.5in. The saga of Enzo Ferraris wartime double-game, keeping the Nazis guessing, and his undercover secret missions. This is about history, mystery, at least two brutal murders, a wartime romance and the desirable high-performance automobiles from Italy. Linking them all is Enzo Ferraris determination and skills, his tenacity and his high risk role-playing under pressure. The dangerous secret role was a gamble which enabled his company to grow and, after the war, make global automotive and motorsport history. This book will change perceptions of the Ferrari story. The company's growth over more than half a century is linked to five years of war and Enzo Ferraris secret life. Also revealed is the involvement of New Zealand soldiers fighting in Italy, their role in the Ferrari story, and Ferraris impact on New Zealand motorsport after the war. The intriguing story of a motoring legend's hidden life emerges after decades of silence. His double-game deception remained undiscovered by both Nazis and Fascists during the last years of World War Two and many details of his undercover existence appear for the first time. The risks were huge as Ferraris factory workers and Partisans operated at night, manufacturing and repairing weapons for Italy's Resistance fighters. While Ferrari was outwardly cooperating with the German Army and the Fascists, he was secretly assisting both Communist and Partisan guerilla units and also undertaking covert assignments. One of these dangerous missions required him to smuggle a senior political official out of Modena to safety, avoiding roadblocks and a probable firing squad if they had been discovered. Ferrari called this time Judgment by Gunshot after his former boss was machine-gunned in the street and, only weeks later, a business partner and close friend was kidnapped...
