He forgot the appearance of the Son of God, and no longer remembered the announcement of the holy gospel, which is neither to be affected by the threats of the ignorant nor by alluring words. He disowned the Virgin which had given birth to the Redeemer, and remembered not the manifestation of the Holy Spirit which had begotten him. He seduced many from among the congregation of Christ, led them away, and added them to the numbers of the devil. Like a serpent, he lurked treacherously on every side among those against whom he had designs: he dug a pit-fall and caught many nobles, very many princes and some well known priests. The names of these, his accomplices, are as follows: Ardag, prince of the Rsheshdunians; Katish, prince of the Khorkhorhunians; Kid, prince of the Vahevunians; Diroz, prince of...
