Forgotten Books, 2017. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from The Oriental Herald, and Colonial Review, Vol. 1: January to April, 1824 Anticipating the desire of those for whom this Work is intended in India, to possess a Report of the most interesting particulars relative to Eastern Literature and Discovery that have transpired from the commencement of the past year, since which Indian Editors have been no longer at liberty to republish, even from the English papers, any thing the Indian Government chose to prohibit - such a Report has been prepared. The same date will be taken, as marking the close of Lord Hastings's administration in India, for the period of commencement in arranging the intelligence from that country; as well as from other parts of our colonial possessions, which will give a uniformity to the whole. These several claims, incidental to the First Number of a Publication commenced under such peculiar circumstances as the present, have occupied space that in future Numbers will not be required for such a purpose. Not to push this beyond its proper limit, however, the Official Correspondence on the press of India, so essential to the correct appreciation of its danger or utility, is given in an appendix. At the end of the Number, and printed at the entire expense of the Editor, who willingly makes this additional sacrifice, in order nothing may be left undone to place the British Public in full session of every fact relating to that important question. From a wish to meet all the expense incurred by the introduction of so much matter relative to his own case in the present instance, which will not occur again, the Editor has added several sheets more...
