Createspace, United States, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.I have had many people ask why I created the show Healthcare Elsewhere. My wife and I have had some experience with traveling for medical care over the years. Jennifer is a two-time cancer survivor and she traveled across the country to Duke University many years ago for experimental cancer vaccines. Our children are originally from Poland; we adopted them into our family 10 years ago. We had experience dealing with several of our children's medical issues during the many months we were in Poland to facilitate the adoption. For example, our son Peter is deaf. We traveled with him for cochlear Implant surgery twice; this technology allows him to hear, understand, and function just like any other hearing person on the planet. Technology has always fascinated me. Many of the latest medical advancements are moving forward at an ever accelerating rate and I am no stranger to the incredible benefits of these innovations. In 2012 I had stem cells implanted into my right knee to repair damaged cartilage. I can now run again and enjoy sports with my kids. We do a segment in the show called The Onwards Medical Breakthrough where I talk about leading edge technology and the future of medicine. My team and I love doing the research to find this information, and we hope it inspires you as much as it does us. Medical tourism provides options. The current medical system in the United States and many other countries is broken. Many people around the world are finding that their medical costs are spiraling out of control and they are looking to find better, more affordable options. High costs, mediocre service, long wait times, insurance issues, and...
