Excerpt from An Account of the Exercises on the Occasion of the Presentation of the Langley Medal and the Unveiling of the Langley Memorial Tablet, May 6, 1913, Including the Addresses In memory of the late Secretary Samuel Pierpont Langley and his contributions to the science of aerodromics, the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution, on December 15, 1908, established the Langley Medal, to be awarded for specially meritorious investigations in connection with the science of aerodromics and its application to aviation ; and at the same meeting, as an additional memorial to Secretary Langley, provided for the erection in the Institution building of a tablet, setting forth his services in connection with the subject of aerial navigation. The first award of the medal was voted by the Board of Regents on February 10, 1909, to Wilbur and Orville Wright, for advancing the science of aerodromics in its application to aviation by their successful investigations and demonstrations of the practicability of mechanical flight by man. The medal was presented to each of the brothers Wright at a meeting of the Board on February 10, 1910. The second award of the medal was voted on February 13, 1913, to Mr. Glenn H. Curtiss for advancing the art of aerodromics by his successful development of a hydro-aerodrome whereby the safety of the aviator has been greatly enhanced, and to Monsieur Gustave Eiffel for advancing the science of aerodromics by his researches relating to the resistance of the air in connection with aviation. The presentation of these medals was made on May 6, 1913. This date was selected in order that the ceremonies incident to the presentation might take place in connection with...
