Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: Penguin UK | A gripping new thriller from the bestselling author of BLACK-EYED SUSANS. Carl Louis Feldman has long been suspected a serial killer but never convicted. He now lives in a nursing home in Texas. The staff aren't sorry to see him go when his alleged daughter arrives to take him to a road trip. She is sure that her sister was one of his victims and she is determined to find out the truth. | &Utterly compelling . . . the writing is mesmeric& Ali Land, Sunday Times bestselling author of Good Me Bad Me&This book haunted me . . . The writing is beautiful and chilling, laced with a subtle dark humour, and the multiple twists build to a perfect icy shiver of an ending. I loved it!& C J Tudor, Sunday Times bestselling author of The Chalk ManPREORDER THE CHILLING NEW THRILLER FROM THE AUTHOR OF THE SUNDAY TIMESBESTSELLER BLACK-EYED SUSANSCarl Louis Feldman is an old man who was once a celebrated photographer.That was before he was tried for the murder of a young woman and acquitted.Before his admission to a care home for dementia.Now his daughter has come to see him, to take him on a trip.Only she&s not his daughter and, if she has her way, he&s not coming back . . .Because Carl&s past has finally caught up with him. The young woman driving the car is convinced her passenger is guilty, and that he&s killed other young women. Including her sister Rachel.Now they&re following the trail of his photographs, his clues, his alleged crimes. To see if he remembers any of it. Confesses to any of it. To discover what really happened to Rachel.Has Carl truly forgotten what he did or is he just pretending? Perhaps he&s guilty of...
