Entry in his diary, April 20, 1826, Junking. Hayes went after lumber. That was my first birth day, but he made no mention of the momentous event. Yet I entertain against him no hard feelings, because it was no departure from his uniform practice. My father for several reasons, was accounted somewhat eccentric and extremely radical. He championed total abstinence, the Jewish race, and the anti-slavery cause, carrying Frederick Douglas around in his rig, to his lectures, and entertaining that nigger at his home These were reasons enough, in those early days, for that accounting. For my mother's quiet, unassuming amiability, I have no words. I never saw her show impatience. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
