Rupicapra Co, United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 214 x 149 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Elizabeth Teller, a forty-something Anglo-American living in Paris, has it all: a well-connected French architect husband, four children and a job as editor at a revered French publishing house. But with the sudden appearance of a former lover, a less glorious past comes back to haunt her. The dream life begins to crumble. A darker side of pretty Paris emerges.  A gripping Paris coming of age story, not the usual trite tale of young would be artists groping in their wistful way into mostly wishful futures, this is rather the struggle to maturity of a grown woman who is forced to come to terms with a past which terribly reveals itself and puts the life she has made, as the American wife of a well to do Frenchman, and her own most intimate vision of herself at risk. This is an everyday Paris with which few English language readers are familiar, and the range of emotional relations with which the book deals-work, marriage, family, sex, and love young and older and old-is remarkable and heartening. C.K. Williams, poet, winner of the Pulitzer Prize, the National Book Award, the National Book Critics Circle Award Written in a distinctive and luminous style, Someone Else is both a meditation on and an evocative portrait of how past events affect and destroy a seemingly perfect marriage and how the consequences will forever alter the lives of the characters -- for ultimately, perhaps, more mindful and authentic ones. Lily Tuck, novelist, winner of the 2004 National Book Award Brew a cup of tea, put on your most comfortable outfit, silence the phone, and read Mary Fleming s Someone Else. Elizabeth Teller...
