Excerpt from Proceedings of the Convention of Iron and Steel Manufacturers and Iron Ore Producers, at Pittsburgh, Tuesday, May 6, 1879 The first general meeting of the iron trade of the United States, of which I find any record, was called on the 6th day of December, 1849, to meet at Philadelphia on the 20th day of the same month, to consider the existing depression in the iron industry and to appeal to Congress for relief through a revision of the tariff. The meeting, which was held in the chamber of the Board of Trade, was largely attended by manufacturers and dealers in iron: after reading the reports of committees and appointing a general committee to further its purposes it adjourned sine die. Its proceedings were published in book form and were of interest and permanent value. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. The ideal ebook i possibly study. Better then never, though i am quite late in start reading this one. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
