Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Pilgrimage to Jamestown, Va; Of the Bishops and Deputies of the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America: Saturday, October 15, 1898 You will listen again to the story, briefly told, of the planting of the germs of our political life, and the planting of the Church of England, bearing in it the seeds of a pure and primitive Christianity, upon this spot where we stand. It is an easy effort of the historic imagination to understand that ideas of government, of law and of liberty, which had been growing in the thoughts of the men of our mother-country centuries before our forefathers crossed the sea, should feel the breath of the free air the moment their feet touched this shore. They were thousands of miles away, with the mysterious vastness of the ocean between them and the absolutisms, the autocracies, the weights, the fixed traditions and forms of the Old World they had left behind them. The conviction at once would dawn upon them that God had led them out here into the wilderness that they might think for themselves, and that the ideas of justice which His providential hand had planted in them might, after long delay, come to the birth. That is the philosophy, as you will see from the story, of the movement of political ideas from the day our forefathers landed at Jamestown, to the formation of our State and Federal Constitutions, and our glorious achievement of our national independence. You will be told of the missionary fervor of members of the Church of England who organized the migration and established the colony planted here. You will...
