CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 284 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.7in. The directive had been clear: Deeply embed himself in the fair town of Paradise, Tennessee, and keep one Melody Song Reardon from forgiving her fornicating ex-fiancé and keep her safe by any means necessary. Fortunately, Retired First Sergeant Callum Valentine had always been a man that got the job done. Unfortunately, nobody told him that while his job might be as pretty as a picture, she could be ornery as a wet cat and had a stubborn streak a mile long. Now, he was battling baristas and dodging would-be assassins in an effort to keep one sultry southern minx safe. He'd thought the Taliban would be the most dangerous force he'd ever face. Imagine his surprise when he realized that the radical extremists had nothing on one curvy little woman with a wicked edge to her tongue, a woman that had somehow tangled herself around his cold heart. Melody Song Reardon was done with men. After learning that the man she'd been planning to marry was no better than a corporate Casanova in and out of the boardroom and bedroom, she'd decided that love just wasn't in the cards for her. Which was fine. She was young, smart, and capable and better yet, she had a dream and a plan: Opening her very own bookyarn store Hooks and Books. She had the brains. She had the building. And now, it appeared that she also had a freaking bodyguard compliments of her interfering older brother! She didn't care how mouthwateringly handsome her so-called savior was; she didn't need another controlling man in her life telling her what to do. At least, she hadn't needed one, until those nerve wracking hang-ups and strange...
