This book may be worth purchasing. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

Not illustrated. 1916 Excerpt: .of the war there was a decrease in transatlantic steamship travel and in immigration, both of which served to limit the number of persons passing through New York City. The twelve months of war in 1915, as compared with the five months of war in 1914, produced more effect. Immigration from Europe has practically ceased and the legion of tourists going abroad has been reduced to a mere remnant. These conditions continue and may be expected to continue for some time to come. Meanwhile the annual attendance figures for the Aquarium show a tendency to become stationarv.--C. H. T. Miss Ida M. Mellen, who has been appointed secretary and stenographer at the Aquarium, holds not only a certificate as an expert amanuensis, but comes to the Aquarium with an excellent training in biological work. She has had the advantage of academic and normal school training, followed by special biological studies at the Marine Biological laboratories at Woods Hole, and at Cold Spring Harbor. Mr. Robert Sutcliffe, clerk of the Aquarium, has been with the New Jersey militia at Douglass, Arizona, since June. A PECULIAR HABIT OF THE MORAY By Chapman Grant SUCCESSFUL combats among some of the lower animals seem to require an empty stomach. To satisfy the cravings of hunger, an animal will fight against heavy odds, but when outclassed it will often give up its latest meal, at once increasing the possibilities for speed or fight and offering a bribe to the enemy to...
