Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Memorial of William Kirkland Bacon: Late Adjutant of the Twenty-Sixth Regiment of New York State Volunteers I propose to erect a simple memorial, inscribing thereon the name of my departed son. It is a debt due to his memory, which some one should discharge, and who better than the father that knew and loved him. If I needed a warrant for this, I might plead even high authority. I remember more than forty years ago, to have read with great admiration, and with much youthful sensibility, the memoir prepared by the poet Beattie, of a son of brilliant promise cut off in the morning of life, and passages of that moving tribute now, at the distance of nearly half a century, still linger in my memory; and every admirer of Burke will readily recall that heart-broken wail over an only son, dearly loved and early lost, which will live as long as the unequalled orations that have made his name immortal. I do not of course venture to compare my case with these signal and affecting instances, but I use them by way of illustration, or better still, perhaps, of apology for my attempt.
