Not illustrated. 1920 Excerpt: . keep on submitting this law until we get it passed, and get it passed as the department wants it, to control this situation. We will try to prevent the employment of children as much as possible in order that the county judges issue permits only to those who are compelled to assist in earning a livelihood for their crippled or sick parents. I have used the argument that this burden should not be placed on the babies of the land. The county judges simply glance at the law, and upon the sworn statement of a crippled mother or invalided parent they issue the permit. We have no other means of issuing permits except through the probate judges who have all juvenile matters in hand. Delegate. Will this new Federal law partially correct the feature which you complain of? Mr. Stewart. Miss Allen can answer any...
